VOL. XIX.

sylvania Man. SENATOR VOORHEES IN HIS SEAT.

Another Speech to be Made Against Ingalls, And the Latter to Reply Thereto-Other Washington Gossip.

Washington, May 7.—[Special.]—Congres-pional sensations are the order of the day, and it is a dull day, indeed, when spectators at the capitol are not treated to one in either house of congress. Today's spat, which at one time looked as if a slugging match was in store time looked as if a slugging match was in store for the observers, was between our own Mr. Candler and Representative Sowden, of Penn-sylvania. Mr. Candler is the smallest man physically in the house, but his size does not interfere with his courage, for he might be termed the very "grittiest" man in the body. Bowden, on the other hand, is a large and powerful looking fellow, but his "backbone" is not half so stiff as that of the plucky little man from Georgia. The river and harbor bill was under consideration, and Mr. Sowden, a dem-perat, had the floor in opposition to it. He only had ten minutes in which to make his argument, and was reading from manuscript in tones of thunder, and scoring some good points against the bill, which he termed a mammoth steal. But in his enthusiasm he went just one step too far by making the statement that every democrat who was now favoring this bill had opposed the direct tax bill, which was not nearly such a scheme for robbing the treasury as this bill. As those words were uttered Mr. Candler was on his feet in a second and asked to interrupt Sowden, but the latter refused, when the little Georgian appealed to the speaker in his loudest voice, but even the speaker was unable to hush the excited Pennsylvanian, who continued in even a louder tone. The little Georgian was teeming with Indignation, for he had opposed the direct tax bill and was also opposing the bill under consideration. He again attempted to explain, but his voice couldn't be heard, for the thunder-like tones of the Pennsylvanian was filling the hall from floor to ceiling, and even the stained glass of the roof were vibrating as though the building was experiencing the effects of a South Carolina earthquake. Seeing that he couldn't speak the loudest, Mr. Candler, in the heat of passion, walked up to Sowden, shook his fist in the Pennsylvanian's face, and demanded to be heard. The big man from Pennsylvania stopped, the speaker stopped and Mr. Blanchard had the floor, but he yielded to Mr. Candler, who said: "When the gentleman from Pennsylvania said that every man on the democratic side who voted against the direct tax bill was now favoring this bill, he told a—." But the sentence was not completed, for rather than be accused of telling a falsehood, S wden quickly

"I did not say every gentleman, but nearly every gentleman."
"Then," said Mr. Candler, "I excuse you," and turning to the speaker he said:

"Mr Speaker, I did oppose the direct tax bill, and I do oppose this bill, and will vote When Mr, Candler approached Sowden, every member arose with one accord, expecting the little Georgian to strike, and but for Sowden's retraction a scene would certainly have ensued, for the 'little one-eyed plow boy of Pigeon Roost," was on his mettle, and was determined to have his position quoted correctly. As it was, it ended pleasantly, and the members enjoyed a hearty laugh over it. But, notwithstanding this, the bill passed by a vote of 161 to 71. Messrs. Candler and Blount were the only two members of the Georgia delegation who voted against the bill. THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL. The passage of the river and harbor bill today, under the suspension of the rules, was quite a surprise to a great many. There were thirds could be received with which to bring it up under suspension. It is said that Chair-man Blanchard has, in some way, succeeded in increasing the total amount of the bill to something like twenty-three million dollars, when the amount named in the bill, when it was made public, was but a little over nineteen million dollars. The charge is made that Mr. Blanchard, in order to gratify the wishes of some members who, as they believed, had not received a sufficient amount for their districts, was persuaded to go to the public printer and had such amounts inserted in the bill, while it was being printed, and in this way the total amount has been increased almost four million. There has been much unpleasant talk about the matter for the past two or three weeks, though Mr. Blanchard is entitled to the benefit of the doubt, as he says he did nothing to increase the amount without first conferring with the other members of the committee. It is alleged that two New York members who had secured little for their districts went with Mr. Blanchard to the public printing office, before the bill was printed, and had there inserted appropriations for their districts in accordance with their wishes. It is reported from the white house that the president has said that he will veto the bill if it reaches him in anything like its present shape. It is exed that another million or two will be added on by the senate.

VOORHEES IN HIS SEAT. Senator Voorhees was in his place in the senate today for the first time since his encounter with Senator Ingalls. He is still suffering acutely from the carbuncle on his leg, and walks with difficulty. He has in preparation a further reply to Senator Ingalls and to other assaults upon his record during the war, to be delivered at the reception to be tendered him here by the Indiana Democratic He was at first inclined to signify his regret at his departure from parliam matter over, concluded that the assault made upon him justified the epithets used in reply. It is understood to be his intention, therefore, to pay no further attention to the matter in the senate unless it is opened by some other senator. Senator Ingalls, it is said, will have a stenographer present when Voorhees addresses his Indiana friends, who will take a verbatim report of the senator's speech in order that he (Ingalls) may reply to it when the latter makes his speech at Indianapolis, which he has consented to do, in response to an invitation from the republicans there between now and the convening of the Chicago convention.

The senate committee on public buildings today reported favorably on Judge Stewart's bill appropriating $120,000 for enlarging Atlanta's public building, and also on Mr. Grimes's bill appropriating $100,000 for a publie building at Columbus. He wouldn't attempt to change the schedule in any way, but said he would file any papers Mr. Amorous might send him with the ways and means committee. The committee, however, have said long since that they would consider no more petitions, and any papers Mr. Amorous might file would be of no benefit. Mr. Turner, of course, knew this. The Senate Passes a Resolution in Regard to Washington's Statue. Washington, May 7.—In the senate Mr. Vest offered a resolution instructing the committee on library to inquire as to the expediency of removing Greenaugh's statue of Washington from its present location, east of the capitol, to some other place on the grounds, and protecting it by a suitable canopy or otherwise. He said that in its present location (on the place cest of the capitol) it was an investigation.

never heard of the singhtest criticism as to the work itself.

Mr. Vest sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter from Mr. Spofford, librarian of congress, giving a history of the statue, and stating that it had been designed for the interior of the building and not for open air; that it had suffered injury from long exposure to the weather, and especially in finer lines of the work, and suggesting that if it were placed under a suitable canopy in some part of the eastern capitol park most of the serious objections which excite criticism in its present locations. ions which excite criticism in its present loca tion would be obviated.

The resolution was adopted.

Among the bills reported from the commitees and placed on the calendar were the fol-

House bills for a public building at Columbus, Ga; and to increase the limit of the cost of the public building at Charleston, S. C.

The railroad land forfeiture bill was then discussed for a time and laid over, and the bill to establish a bureau of animal industry was taken up.

taken up.
Mr. Reagan took the floor in apposition to it.
He regarded many of its features as distinctly violative of the constitution. If conthe regarded many of its reathers as distinctly violative of the constitution. If congress were to pass such a law the constitution might be regarded as a thing which had been;
and the country would be no longer under government of the written constitution. It had too often happened; of late years, that laws had been passed by congress on the theory that the people of the states were not capable of self-government and must be governed by power outside of them, by congress, and by federal authority. The pending bill was one of such measures. It went on the theory that the people of the states was not capable of managing their domestic affairs; were not capable of passing laws to secure good management of stock within their limits, and that congress must do what people were not capable of doing.

Mr. Coke also made an argument against the bill, but yielded the floor without concluding his remarks.

The senate then went into executive business and at 5:10 adjourned. THE RIVER AND HAREOR BILL. The House Passes it Under a Suspension of WAST Cron, May 7.—Immediately after the all of the states in the house today Mr. Blanch-

And Fatally Shoots Her-A Proud Horse Thief Who Don't Want to Wear Handcuffs-Other Criminal News.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Much excitement was caused here this morning by the news that Miss Ida Poe, a well-known young lady, who resides at Fayetteville, had been shot at Carthage and seriously wounded. Miss Poe had a brother in the express office here who left this morning for Carthage. A special this afternoon gives details of the af-fair. Miss Poe was visiting her brother in law, who keeps hotel in Carthage. A young man named Robert L. McNeil, clerk of Monroe county superior court, had formerly been an admirer of Miss Poe, and it is said they had been engaged. Saturday night young McNeil went to Shaw's hotel, and asked H. A. Foote to say that he would like to see her. Miss Poe was in the parlor with a young told Foote she declined to see McN.

something to her in a low tone, and then shot her without taking the pistol from his pocket. The bullet passed through her thigh, passing near the large artery. McNeil at once fied, throwing his pistol to a man named Jones, and shouting, "I shot Miss Ida, but I did it accidentally." A scene of intense excitment followed. A large party of mounted men well armed was made up, and searched Saturday night and yesterday for McNeil, with the wowed intention of lynching him. McNeil is a man of bad character, and stands charged with killing a negro. He ran away and was absent for a year or more. A true bill was found against him. He returned a few weeks ago, and gave bail. Jealousy was the cause of his shooting Miss Poe. The indignation against McNeill is high.

DIDN'T WANT THE HANDCUFFS. Young Fellow Eludes a Sheriff and Reports at the Penitentiary.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 7.—[Special.]—There was a most remarkable occurrence at the penitentiary today, which has no parallel in the annals of that institution. Some months ago a young white man from a western county, was convicted of horse stealing and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. He applied to the supreme court, and pending its decision, gave bail. The supreme court affirmed the judgment and the man was resentenced. The sheriff had made preparation to bring him to the penitentiary today, but the young fellow, who is a man of good family and high-spirited, could not bear the idea of being taken to prison could not bear the idea of being taken to prisen in irons, so last night he started for this city, and arrived on an early train this morning. He went at once to the penitentiary and stated who he was. He was taken in charge and when the sheriff arrived he found the prisoner, to his great astonishment, dressed in his convict garb and a full-fledged convict.

THE AMATEUR GAMBLERS Fall Under the Displeasure of a Nasville

Fall Under the Displeasure of a Nasville Judge.

Michael Le, Tenn., May 7.— [Special.]—
When the grand jury met this morning, Judge Ridley delivered the usual charge to the grand jury. In addition to his regular charge he touched upon the lottery matter. He said that the American citizen was a born gambler. He begins gambling from the time he can shoot marble or throw a ball against the wall. He said that of late lotteries had become very popular. Not only do newspapers offer with yearly subscriptions prizes of uncertain value, but church fairs were having lotteries frequently. All of these schemes were nothing more than gambling, and the parties engaged in them were liable to indictment. Everything where commodities are offered for sale with the promise of some gift of uncertain value is commodities are offered for sale with the promise of some gift of uncertain value is gaming. All of these schemes are evasions of the gambling laws, and are really worse than regular games of poker. They are more demoralizing, and should be stopped. He urged the jury to look into all of these lottery schemes, and break them up by indicting those engaged in them. This has direct reference to the American's lottery scheme, which has the American's lottery scheme, which has been in full blast for several months, and which has been imitated by the Banner. The papers will now have to depend on their merit

MURDERED THE BOAT'S CAPTAIN. A Row on a Memphis Excursion Boat

Knives and Pistols Used. MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 7.—A difficulty occurred last night at 8 o'clock on board the steamer Benton, running as an excursion boat between Memphis and Jackson Mound Park, a pleasure retreat, four miles below the city, which resulted in the killing of Martin Moore, the boat's captain. The cause of the trouble was a disagreement between those who had char boat's captain. The cause of the trouble was a disagreement between those who had chartered the steamer, Eph Reeves and W. J. McCowan, who are charged with the murder of Captain Moore. It is alleged that Reeves cut him three times in the head with a butcherknife, and McCowan shot him in the abdomen. Barkeeper Tilley has also been arrested as accessory to the killing. Moore kept a saloon on the corner of Main and Exchange streets. Reeves and McCowan are sports.

A POSTMASTER SHORT.

MARQUETTE. Mich., May 7.—Postoffice Inspector Stuart has examined the accounts of the postoffice at Newberry, Mich., and found a shortage of $1,200. Postmaster Fred K. Stewart, who is also county treasurer, and his deputy, Clyde W. Heux, publisher of the Newberry News, were arrested today, and are now in jail unable to furnish $2,000 bail, charged with embezzlement. The Matter Left to the Methodist Annual Conference.

New Tork, May 7.—When the debate on the eligibility on women as lay delegates to the Methodist Episcopal general conference closed today, a vote was taken on the adoption of Rev. Davis H. Moore's substitute for the report of the committee. It proposed that women elected as lay delegates to represent the general conference be seated, and the question of their eligibility to future general conferences be determined by a vote of the churches and annual conferences. This substitute was lost. Then a vote was taken upon the amendment to the report offered by Rev. Dr. Neely, of Philadelphia. This amendment excludes women from seats in the present conferences, and submits the question of eligibility to sit in future general conferences to the annual conferences. It was adopted by a vote of 249 ayes to 173 nays.

Secretary Bayard Makes a Statement in Regard to the Matter.

Washington, May 7.—The following statement in regard to the Tangler affair is issued by the department of state:

It is not true that there has been any refusal by the sultan of Morocco to arbitrate. He proposed to consult with Mr. Lewis some weeks ago to send a special agent to Tangler to discuss with Mr. Lewis the matters of differences, all questions upon which they could not agree to be referred to some third person. With the approval of the state department, Mr. Lewis agreed to this, and after some discussion as to details a complete understanding was reached-The meetings were to begin on Saturday last. The presence of the "Quinnebang" at Tangler was casual, and had nothing to do with the discussions between Mr. Lewis and the authorities. The "Quinnebang" is ou regular cruise.

Nos. 1 and 2 to T. R. Smith at $300 each.

The bidding was spirited, as much so as could have been expected in a rain storm.

The barbecue between showers was dished up in good style. Afterwards, three lots were sold, when a clap of thunder warned the auctioneer that it was time to stop.

All considered, the sale was a success. Had the day been a fair one, Mr. Scott says howold have sold every lot. Several of the buyers will at once commence to improve their lots. West End continues to draw.

Western men particularly, when you say West End, want to see it, and as a rule are pleased. Within a month, W. M. Scott & Co. have sold to western buyers over $50,000 worth of property in and about West End.

THE POPE'S RESCRIPT.

No Official Communication Between the British Government and the Vatican.

London, May 7.—In the house of commons today, Sir James Fergusson, under foreign secretary, stated that no official communication had passed between the government and the pope with reference to the latter's rescript condemning boycotting and the plan of campaign in Ireland. He also stated that the government had not brought to bear any influence to bring about the issue of the rescript.

Referring to the Samca question, he said that the government had not reason to complain of King Malietoa's failure to keep his agreements. Germany did not ask the assent of the British and American governments to agreements. Germany did not ask the assent of the British and American governments to the deportation of King Malietoa and the proposition of England and America upon the subject was unchanged, Sayannah will Remain Quiet until After the Convention.

Norwood's Chances in the Race for Congress—The Students Field Day in Athens—Other News.

SAVANNAM, Ga., May 7 .- [Special.]-The political pulse can hardly be felt at the wrist today. Until Thursday night it was way above But Chatham county has decided, and that fixes it. Savannah will remain quiet and complacent until after the convention Gordon is her choice, but Norwood refuses to retire. The county is still clinging to him and while he may not be nominated, it looks as if he will stand before the convention and exercise the power of a tribune in vetoing.

Still Gordon has not been inactive in the country. In company with the redoubted Clifton, he made a tour of several counties. Clifton said on his return that many opport tunities were offered him to prove his charity.

In fact, to use his own words, he said: "We have been building schoolhouses and endowing

By the masses, who love good oratory, or oratory of some description, it was hoped a joint debate would take place in Savannah between the rival statesmen, but Captain Gor don declined the challenge. At Effingham they met, and a discussion was demanded. There was no help for it. The white-robed aspirants entered the arena and long contested the palm. Norwood got in the first shot. Said "Fellow citizens, Captain Gordon wants you to swap me for him. Don't you think you ought to have some boot?"

Never has politics spread so wide and struck so deep in this city, but it was pretty much one-sided. Gordon had practically no opposition. His social clubs stuck by him Greenwich Park association put off its picnic Thursday night to permit its members to be at the theater and vote for him, A large contingent marched from the Oglethorpe club to aid him. The Georgia Hussars also proceeded to

The workingmen also favored him rathe

The workingmen also favored him rather than Norwood. Two years ago they captured the meeting, and then the sly Thomas captured them. He quietly secured in some way the leader who was to oppose his nomination. This gentleman proposed and advocated his renomination, and before the horny handed could recover from their consternation the chairman had declared him nominated. Deep and dire was the anger of the K. of L.

Another source of opposition to Mr. Norwood is the trifling appropriation for Savannah river. Of course every candidate promises to secure an unprecedented sum, and always fails, but the promise always takes the crowd. Gordon's delegation is made up of friends of P. W. Meldrim, but that gentleman is not in the race and therefore the incident is an accident probably. Indeed he is one of Mr. Norwood's warm supporters, and according to that gentleman's statement to your recording to that gentleman's statement to your one of Mr. Norwood's warm supporters, and according to that gentleman's statement to your correspondent, will not be a candidate against him. As to chances it is hard to speak. A newspaper man from Emanuel says the country will finally go for Spencer Atkinson.

on the track. The brilliant success of the eutertainment makes the annual field day a permanent feature of college life. First on the programme was the one hundred yards dash. This was won by Mr. Frank Hardeman in ten seconds; Bondurant second. The half mile bicycle race was worf by Victor Smith, of Atlanta, in 1:39; Yancy Morris second. Mr. Joe Boston won the prize for standing broad jump with bells, and W. P. Quarterman without bells. Mr. Mell won the prize for throwing baseball by putting it one hundred and eleven yards and one foot; Nash Broyles second. Mr. Arnold Broyles, of Atlanta, won the prize for putting the shot, and Mr. Frank Hardeman won again in the two hundred yards race in twenty-two seconds; Bondurant again second. Arnold Broyles, was the presented the property of the pr the shot, and Mr. Frank Hardeman won again in the two hundred yards race in twenty-two seconds; Bondurant again second. Arnold Broyles won the wrestling prize, and Victor Smith again won, this time in a mile bleycle race in 3:37; Yancy Harris again second. The hop, step and jump was won by J. C. Mull, and the hurdle race by the same gentleman, with Bonduant second. Arnold Broyles won the prize for throwing the hammer, and S. C. Mell for running the broad jump. The contest closed with the class race, in which Mr. Hardeman again lead, and the three Teniors came in second, third and fourth, giving the championship to the senior class. The prizes were then delivered by Colonel Sylvanus Morris in a humorous and taking speech, which was enthusiastically applauded, to the embarrassment of the colonel. The judges were Messrs J. H. Rucker and George Hodgson, and the executive committee, Messrs. Broyles, Little, Mell, Bondurant, Reid and Howell. By far the most inferesting features of the day were the races and wrestling. The record of Mr. Hardeman is a marvelous one, and he won every race where he was entered with perfect ease. Mr. Broyles wrestling was much admired, as was his personal physique and wonderful strength, Mr. Smith, an Atlanta boy, also, won all the bicycle races with grace and ease. Today's feats put Atlanta at the top of the brawn, as she is already leader of the brain of the university.

At the conclusion of the exercises the crowd dispersed, much pleased with the sports of the day.

Seeking a Sensation.

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 7.—[Special.]—A gentleman resident of this city, and evidently a paper reporter, was pretty well wrought up the other day. A little boy came rushing along and stopped to ask if the gentleman had heard about the three murders committed at Williscoochee, and said he had just heard three gentlemen discussing the killing, to which he replied that he had heard nothing of it, and thinking to himself that it was a good trick for his paper, started in a rush down town and began inquiring about the murder. Nobody Seeking a Sensation for his paper, started in a rush down town and began inquiring about the murder. Nobody seemed to know anything about it, and as he could find nothing to convince him of the fact, he repaired to his boarding house wondering at the strange occurrence, when he found out that the parties to whom the little boy was listening were insurance men. and were discussing the death of parties who probably died in Australia ten years ago. The Pratt Mine Strikers, BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 7.—[Special.]—At one time last week it was thought that the strike of the coal miners at Pratt mines would be settled, and the coke drawers did return to word Saturday morning. The company on Friday or Saturday agreed to renew the contract with the miners at the old prices—namely, fifty cents per ton in winter and forty-five cents in summer. The miners took the proposition under consideration and today returned their answer. They declined to renew the contract at the old price and will not return to work. About one thousand men are out. No effort will be made by the company at present to supply the places of the strikers, as the eight hundred convicts employed from the state can mine enough coal to supply all pressing orders. It is feared that the strike will extend to other mines in this section and will extend to other mines in this section and cause a shutdown of some of the furnaces.

Meeks and Myers Have a Shooting Scrape A Woman Said to be at the Bottom of the Trouble-Other Macon News.

MACON, Ga., May 7 .- [Special.] - About 10:15 this morning there occurred a highly interest-ing and very exciting shooting affair on the most crowded thoroughfare in the city. Mr. Laurence Myers, of Augusta, was standing in front of the Kennesaw restaurant on Fourth street, talking to one of the waiters, when Mr John Mecks walked up to him, and said: "You and Charlie Baily have been talking about me, and I hear you are going to kill me, Meeks then cursed Myers, and said that if he spoke to him again he would murder him. Myers replied:

"Let's get a hack and go out of the city limits and settle it there. I'll pay the hack fare?" Meeks said:
"No, you know where you can find me when you want me, and you can see me there."
"No, you are not game enough?" replied Myers, and added: "You are a coward." Meeks then started down Fourth street, toward Poplar, remarking as he went: "I am ward Poplar, remarking as he went: done with it all."

Myers was still standing in front of the Kennesaw, and as Meeks left him, he drew a large pistol from his hip pocket, and transferred it to his inside coat pocket. He then called Meeks back and said: "Get your gun and get Meeks draw a pistol and fired at him once, but before he could fire again, Myers emptied his weapon at him, firing five shots. When he had stopped shooting, he said: "My gun is empty," and ran in the door of the bar-room, closely followed by Meeks, who shot at him as he went into the dining room in the back of closely followed by Meeks, who shot at him as he went into the dining room in the back of the building. The ball went about ten feet above his head, and lodged in the ceiling. As Myers was going out of the back door into the alley, Meeks fired at him again, and missed him about three feet. The men both ran into the alley, and were grabbed by Officers Yeager and Grace. Officer Grace caught Meeks, and had quite a struggle with him, but succeeded in taking his pistol away from him.

Myers gave his weapon to Officer Grace, and asked him to protect him, as he wanted to live longer.

They were given cells in the barracks, and vere quite busy all day receiving visitors.

After a careful investigation it was found that as is usual in such cases, a woman was at the bottom of the trouble, which dates back the bottom of the trouble, which dates back some time. The woman now keeps a questionable resort in the lower part of the city, and lives under the assumed name of Stella Horton. One of the participants, according to the story of Stella, was joined in wedlock to her in 1875. The course of true love ran with more than the usual ruggedness, and in 1881 they were divorced. Still Stella had not lost interest in her quondam spouse, and when she learned that he had begun to to "take notice" again, and was supposed to be engaged to one of two beautiful blonde sisters, the divorced wife determined to chastise her. Blind with jealousy she assaulted the wrong sister. The readers of THE CONSTITUTION will remember the story. Since then the lady who was so malignantly assaulted has been the wife of the one shooter, and Stella has solaced herself with the other shootist. The relation of Stella seems to be satisfactory to nobody, and the fring of today is the general outcome. and the firing of today is the general outcome of the situation. Macon, Gr., May 7.—[Special.]—The May term of the United States circuit court opened here today with Hon. Emory Speer on the bench, and the officers of the court in attendance. The jurors for this term were empannelled and sworn. The following are traverse jurors: C. C. Hayes, S. M. Subers, J. C. Nicholson, J. R. Ellis, W. B. Daniels, Robert Coleman, Robert Lumpkin, F. L. Mallory, C. M. Begley, L.M. Kellin, Jacob Character and R. H. Plant. The following are the circuit court jurors: A. W. Murray, William Kerr, George P. Cornell, P. Watson, W. W. Collins, Green King, W. W. Perry, W. B. Meek were empaneled and sworn as district court jurors. The docket was called of cases assigned for this term. It not being generally understood by members of the bar that cases would be assigned today, his honor will have another call of the docket tomorrow and assign all cases that were not assigned today. The case of Rudolph Denicke, charged with robbing the mails, continued and reassigned for May 18th. Traverse jurors were excused until 9 tomorrow, after which the court adjourned until that time. which the court adjourned until that time.

Rose Park Festival, Macon, Ga., May 7.—[Special.]—On next Friday afternoon and evening the ladies in the vicinity of Rose park will give a strawberry festival. The main object in having it is to obtain funds for buying safety swings, seesaws, doll houses and some other repairs that are needed, a new fence around the enclosure and around the fountain. It is expected that a considerable amount will be realized, for this considerable amount will be realized, for this park is the children's paradise of afternoon pleasure. In addition to the festival a pyrotechnic display will be given. With this "extra" attraction, it is positively known that the occasion will be a great success. Rose park is in the center of Macon's best populated portion. Every festival ever given has added to its fame, as a place of beauty, ease, enjoyment, and pleasure.

A Bad Place.

Macon, Ga., May 7.—[Special.]—The iron steps which lead to the entrance door of the postoffice, has been about worn out. One step in particular needs repairs, a small hole is wern through it, and around that the plate is exceedingly thin, a heavy and sudden jar upon that place would chuse it open to the extent of about ten inches. Some older person, perhaps blind, might brake through and doubtless that it may cause some severe injury. The county it may cause some severe injury. The county commissioners should look after it. Macon Wins in Albany.

MACON, Ga., May 7—[Special.]—Macon was successfully represented in the late Albany art and floral fair, which closed last week. Miss Emily Hines, who had on exhibit a collegion of rowtenit was awarded the highest lection of portraits, was awarded the highest premium for the best portrait. Mr. Paul Hill wor the honors and premiums for the best piece of work in hammered brass or silver. Macon certainly wins wherever she goes.

Services at an Engine House.

Macon, Ga., May 7.—[Special.]—This afternoon at 2 o'clock Dr. Kendall, pastor, Mulberry street Methodist church, preached a sermon at engine house No. 2, to a large attendance. The singing was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, The services were much enjoyed by the firemen, who never have a chance to attend church.

plans of the company.

Calling at No. 9 North Broad street, the reporter learned that Mr. H. I. Kimball had gone to Baltimore to start the work upon great refrigerating plant in that city, but Mr. J. C. Kimball was in and readily consented to answer the interrogations. answer the interrogations.

"Mr. Kimball, in what way do you intend to utilize the pipes you are to lay in the streets?"

"Precisely as the gas company and water company use theirs. We carry the refrigerating agent in these pipes direct to the storerooms and ice boxes of hotels, restaurants, saloons, meat and fish markets, or to private dwellings; in short, to all places where dry, clean, sweet and economical refrigeration is desired."

"How large are the pipes need?"

stills after it has done its work."

"Of course you have to use longer pipes for long distances, or where there are many consumers on the line?"

"No, sir, the ½ inch pipe will supply the largest line we can have in the city, and indeed much longer. It is one of the peculiarities of this fluid that it travels through the pressure will solutely without friction, and the pressure will be the same at the end of a five mile line that ply New Orleans, if necessary."

"How is the work of erecting the plant progressing?"

"Very rapidly. Mr. Howell, the expert who has been with the consolidated company from the first, was here a week ago and laid out and started the work, and when he went away. a few days later, left Mr. Schneider, another expert from New York, to complete the plant, and by-the-by, Mr. Howell says we have got the best location and surroundings he has yet seen, and that our plant is the best the company has ever turned out. He says there is but one possible objection to our building, and that is that it will soon prove too small for the business that is sure to crowd in upon us. He predicts for us the highest possible success. Mr. Howell is a strong advocate for the pipe system."

"Mr. Kimball, what will be the effect of this ammonia flowing through these pipes? Will it freeze the ground?"

"Oh, no, the simple flow of the ammonia through the pipes produces do appreciable results, it is only when it is assisted by the valve attached to the coil in the cooling room or box, and passing into the coil through an apparatus the size of a cambric needle, unless great pressure, and then allowed full expansion, that it does its work, then it will beat an iceburg and a Texas blizzard combined."

"You have faith in the enterprise, it seems."

"Well, rather. I have never yet met the man who has thoroughly investigated it that does not have the mostphounding faith in it. It is destined to beat the Bell telephone or the electric light, as its uses are so much greater and more important.

ENFORCING THE SUNDAY LAW.

Arrest of Parties in Cincinnati for Keeping Open Dram Shops on Sunday. CINCINNATI, May 7 .- Judge Caldwell, of the CINCINNATI, May 7.—Judge Caldwell, of the police court, today sustained the demurrer to the plea in abatement filed by counsel for Munzebrock, a salconkeeper, who is charged with keeping his salcon open on Sunday. The plea was based on an allegation that the law was not properly enacted. The court found that the law was ree-enacted in due form. The defense then demanded a jury, and the case was set for 3 o'clock this afternoon. Warrants were issued today for 142 persons who yesterday violated the law, and all who were arrested, gave bonds. Mayor Smith intimates that he may change his policy next Sunday by arresting at once all who open their salcons.

That Tired Feeling

The warm weather has a debilitating effect, especially upon those who are within doors most of the time. The peculiar, yet common, complaint known as "that tired feeling," is the result. This feeling can be entirely overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives new life and strength to all the functions of the body.

"I could not sleep; had no appetite. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling; and my appetite 'mproved." B. A. SANFORD, Kent, Ohlo.

Strengthen the System

Mood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusua strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. Thompson, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass. "Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. Barrington, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Two Steamships Crash Together During a Fog.

one of Them Disappears From Sight, Supposed to Have Gone Down-Small Craft in Trouble at New Orleans.

Norfolk, Va., May 7.—The British steamer Benison, Captain Aitkenhead, from Matamoras to Philadelphia, was towed here today in distress and reports being in a collision yesterday afternoon shortly after 12 o'clock, during a dense fog, with the steamer Eureka, Captain Quick, from New York to New Orleans. When the fog lifted about half an hour afterward, the Eureka was nowhere in sight, and it is feared she was sunk. After the collision there was a sound of escaping steam and one whistle. The Benison's bowwas hally stove in and she would have sunk, but for her water-tight compartments.

The captain of the Benison says he had stopped his ship shortly before the collision to take soundings. The fog lifting, he started at a very slow speed and his ship was swinging around, when the Eureka came down upon him at tull speed, the fog in the meanwhile having grown dense again. The hole in the Benison's bow is an ugly one, and when the collision occurred the rush of water carried away everything in the forecastle. There are nineteen inches of water in the Benison's second compartment, and she is now lying on her bottom here in a sinking condition.

The collision occurred sixteen miles southeast of Cape Henry. The Benison struck the Eureka square amidship. The Eureka was a freight boat and carries no passengers, and her crew altogether number thirteen persons.

The captain of the Berison says the weather Sunday morning was absolutely fair and cloggy. At 12 o'clock the fog was so dense that he could not take observations and took soundings to ascertain his position. After taking soundings, and while the ship was going at a slow rate of speed, he went below to look at the chart and found he was about sixty miles east-northeast of Cape Henry, and about 160 miles southeast by south of Cape Henlopen. When below he heard his ship itse one whistle and hurried on deck. The mate told him a vessel was on his port bow. He gave the proper signal and ordered his helm to port, when blast from the approaching steamer caused him to starboa starboard his helm, and as his vessel was sailing round, an unknown ship looked up through the fog and came down on him at full speed.

His bow struck her squarely just abaft the bridge, on the starboard side. Before the unknown ship was lost to sight in the fog, the mate read her name, "Eureka." The Benison lay to, and when the fog lifted in about half an hour, the Eureka was nowhere in sight. It has been suggested that the Eureka might have been hidden by the fog, then laying some miles south of the Benison, but this is thought to be impossible, as the Eureka was struck in her most vital part. The Benison would have sunk at once, but for her water-tight compartment. The Benison was towed inside the cape by the steamship Andsony, from New York to New Orleans, and brought here by a tug today.

Collided With War Vessels.

Collided With War Vessels.

New Orleans, May 7.—During a heavy rain and thunder storm this afternoon, the tow loat, Future City, and three barges from St. Lonis came in collision with three United States war vessels at anchor in front of the city. Two of the barges were sunk and the third was badly damaged, but most of its freight will be saved. The two barges sunk are total losses. One contained 51,000 bushels of bulk wheat and the other a full cargo of freight. The barges are valued at $9,000 cach and their cargoes at $70,000. The damage to the war vessels is not stated.

The first vessel struck by the Future City barge was the Atlanta. One of the barges, drifting sideway, struck the prow of the Atlanta, and being held fast caused the Atlanta to drag along shore for nearly a mile. Finally, a number of tugs came to her assistance, pulled off the barge and beached it, the other two barges drifting by the Atlanta. One of them struck the Galena and sunk, breaking the Galena's anchor chain and causing her to drift down the stream. The barge was at length taken in tow by the tug Magnolia and the war ship secured. The third barge struck the Yantic, swung around and was somewhat damaged, but the Yantic was uninjured. The Galena received slight damage to her rigging and bows. Other ressels of the fleet suffered no damage. The barges belonged to the Mississippi Valley Transportation company.

John A. Steyenson, agent, says that the loss

John A. Stevenson, agent, says that the loss and damage to the barges is $20,000, and that they were not insured, the company carrying their own risk. The loss on the cargo is estimated at $80,000, supposed to be fully insured. BISHOP HOOD'S DENIAL

York World. RALEIGH, N. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Yesterday's session of the general conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church in America was of decided interest. The session is being held at Newberne, and no less than five bishops are present. One of them is in America was of decided interest. The session is being held at Newberne, and no less than five bishops are present. One of them is Bishop J. W. Hood, Fayetteville, N. C. He yesterday brought up a matter in which he said the New York World had misrepresented him. This was his speech not long ago before the New York conference, in which it was alleged he said that southern slaveholders should be paid for their slaves. He asked that the matter be investigated.

As soon as Bishop Hood finished there was a decided sensation. The following resolutions were introduced:

Whereas, There are certain rumors afloat that Bishop J. W. Hood, in his annual Episcopal address before the N. W York annual conference said that the slaveholders of the south should be paid for their slaves who were emancipated about the close of the late rebellion, and does the A. M. E. Zion church in America great injury; therefore to it. Resolved, That this general conference request Bishop Hood to furnish the secretary with the address, which shall be read to this conference.

Resolved, That after we have heard the document read and Bishop Hood's explanation, that this general conference appoint one from each conference as a committee, who shall draft resolutions, expressing the sentiments of this body.

These resolutions excited a very spirited discussion and very strong speeches were made by Elder Chambers, of Louisville, Professor J. C. Price, J. C. Dancy and others, who advised conservative action.

conservative action.

The discussion developed the fact that whatever may have been the utterances of Bishop Hood, that confidence was still unshaken in is Christian energy and his devotion to his his Christian energy and his devotion to his race.

The resolutions were amended and again amended in deference to respect for Bishop Hood until they became inexpressive and Mr. Dancy offered the following substitute for the whole, which was unanimously adopted:
Whereas, we have the utruest confidence in the Christian character and honesty of Bishop Hood, and while we would not presume to dictate nor namper his opinion yet we see the necessity to resolve that this general conference express its dissent from the views attributed to Bishop Hood in the newspapers which charge him with favoring reimbursement to the ex-slave holders for slave emancipated, as we regard it as against the constitution and the spirit of civilization.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 8, 1888.

The Essential Thing. Some of the northern republican organs profess to be surprised that journals like THE CONSTITUTION, the New Orleans Times-Democrat, the Augusta Chronicle, and the Richmond Dispatch, which do not agree entire'y with the recommendations of the president's message should be willing to help re-elect him. The explanation is very simple indeed, and THE CONSTITUTION has already gone over the ground somewhat elaborately. We may put the whole case in a nutshell by remarking that just now, in view of the temper-to say nothing of the temperatureof the republicans leaders, democratic harmony and democratic success are more essential than any tariff issue.

The position of the journals we have named is precisely that of the silver men of the south and west. The silver men say that that question is not an issue; but the editor of the Courier-Journal has shown and continues to show that it is the biggest question before the country. Mr. Cleveland is opposed to the continued coinage of silver, while the great majority of democrats of this country are in favor of the free coinage of silver. Nevertheless, they support him heartily, A great many democrats oppose his civil service reform views, but they support him heartily.

The truth is, as we have said before, democratic success is by far the most important Issue now before the country. The Richmond Dispatch, which has protection views, declares that, as against the republican party, it would support the veriest demoeratic free trader to be found in the land, and this is precisely the position of THE CONSTITUTION.

There are a few editors in Georgia, some of them inspired by a spirit of rivalry and some by pure ignorance, who are trying to make approval of the president's message a test of democracy, but these little fellows will wear themselves out after awhile, and when the campaign opens in earnest such men as Mr. Randall, and such newspapers as the Richmond Dispatch, the Augusta Chronicle, the Mobile Register, the Nashville American and the New Orleans Times-Democrat, not to mention others, will be expected to do the heavy work of the campaign.

What the little fellows are after, we neither know nor care, but THE CONSTITUrion is after democratic success.

It is thought that Brother Blaine ought to burn his letters before mailing them.

Among southern democrats who appreci ate the situation there is but one issue—the success of the democratic party. We trust the little editors who have been touting stound will speedily fall into line.

The Cotton Movement.

In its monthly review of the cotton market the New York Financial Chroncle says that the April gross movement of totton overland records an increase over the like period of last year, but exhibits a decline from April of 1886, the month's total being 66,246 bales, against 50,515 bales and 80,461 bales respectively. The aggregate movement for the eight months continues largely in excess of any former period, and is only four thousand bales less than the total overland in the twelve months 1886-87.

The net for the month bears the same relation to the two previous years as did the gross, reaching 40,406 bales, against 34,-104 bales in 1887 and 59,468 bales in 1886; while for the season to date the gain over year ago is now 145,331 bales, and compared with 1886 is 154,017 bales.

Receipts at the ports were heavier during April than in the month of 1887, reaching 128,721 bales, against 89,186 bales. Contrasted with April of 1886 there is an important falling off, the total then being 202,865 bales. The season's aggregate conlinues in excess of any year except 1882-83.

Exports to foreign ports have been of quite liberal volume, exceeding the movement for the like month last year, but exhibiting a decrease from April of 1886, when the total was phenomenally large. The month's exports this year reach 264, 745 bales, and were 195,118 bales a year ago and 322,149 bales in 1886.

The amount of cotton marketed since September 1 in 1887-8 is 208,549 bales more than in 1886-7, and 445,026 bales more than In 1885-6.

Northern spinners had up to May 1 taken 1,584,265 bales, an increase over the corresponding period in 1886-7 of 146,074 bales, and a gain over the same time in 1885-6 of 409 bales. During the same period southern spinners have taken 337,000 bales.

In its weekly review, the Chronicle says that for the week ending last Friday the total receipts have reached 32,603 bales, against 30,641 bales last week, 27,980 bales the previous week, and 28,504 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1887, 5,255,866 bales, against 5,135,231 bales for the same period of 1886-7, showing an increase since September 1, 1887, of 120,635 bales.

The exports for the week reach a total of 60,297 bales, of which 29,036 were to Great Britain, 6,066 to France, and 15,255 to the rest of the continent. The imports into continental ports have been 44,000 bales.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 371,100 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up 6,360 bales, including 2,525 for export, 3,380 for conmmption, and 455 for speculation.

The Chronicle says that the speculation in cotton for future delivery at New York was more active for the week under review, and during the first half there was a smart tical position abroad, the increased export ent that has been in progress, the igher prices for cotton on the spot, and the id reduction of stocks in the leading stances united to cause a revival of confidence among the bull party, and caused the bears to purchase freely, to cover outstanding contracts. The movement of the crop has continued in excess of last year, and the weather has been favorable for the planting and germination of the new crop, causing frequent reactions in the course of the advance. The next crop was more freely dealt in, but did not advance as much as this crop.

On Wednesday a bnoyant opening was followed by a sharp decline under sales to realize. Thursday there was little change and no important feature to note. Friday there was an early advance on a better report from Liverpool, and some further im-provement in the last hour, owing to the marked reduction of stocks at the interior towns. Cotton on the spot advanced 1-16c on Monday, and again on Tuesday. On Monday recent sales not before reported to the extent of 7,832 bales for export and 1,440 bales for home consumption were made public. The market was easier and quiet Thursday.

The Chronicle's telegraphic weather report from the south indicates that while the rainfall has been heavy in many sections of Texas during the week, it has in general been of benefit to cotton. On the other hand, rain is needed in the greater part of the Atlantic districts. Planting makes good progress.

INGALLS's orations are great aids to democratic harmony. We trust the great man will do so some more.

Anarchism in Politics. Three of the Chicago anarchists who figared in the Haymarket riot, and were convicted for conspiracy to murder, are now in the Illinois state prison. any man was corrupt enough to make such a trade he probably would not get a half dozen other votes outside of those traded for. No combination of circumstances is likely to arise at present which will induce any further executive clemency towards these men than has already been extended. Governor Oglesby's leniency towards Fielden and Schwab did not receive the approval of the public, and if such an effort is made to secure their pardon, it will be a matter of genuine regret that they did not pay the penalty of their crime with the thers, who were hung. The statement that these men have expressed a change of heart concerning the bomb throwing, and plead the poverty and helplessness of their families comes too late. This should have been thought of fore the Haymarket riot which they helped to incite, and by which the innocent officers were murdered. The murderers got there is no server why any further tive clemency should be extended them. The Chicago plan of dealing with anarchism is the surest way of effectually wipping out the imfamies of such an organizaion and preventing the recurrence of the many tragic events which it has already caused. The hanging of the Chicago anarchists had a very salient effect in quieting the mob-like tendencies of anarchism hroughout the country, and there is no reason why the good work should be un-

off very lightly in escaping the gallows, and done. No respectable candidate would consider for a moment any overtures looking towards the pardon of these criminals on such terms, and if it was even believed that any one of the candidates stood ready to pardon these men, as governor, it would be his political death warrant.

Positive treatment is the only way to deal with such desperate men and methods.

FORAKER is as far from the white house as ever, and this is saying a great deal.

General Johnston and the G. A. R. It seems that all the posts of the Grand Army of the Republic do not take kindly to the action of the E. D. Baker post in Philadelphia in electing General Joseph E. Johnston into even contributory membership in the organization.

While the whole country is approving the patriotic action of this post, another Philadelphia post is creating all the discord it can by protesting against the step which it took. At a recent meeting of the Fred Taylor post in Philadelphia, resolutions were passed emphatically condemning the action and calling upon the Grand Army for its official disapproval of the work of the other post. The resolutions announce that the recognition of any confederate as a member of any post, either in honorary, contributory, or any other membership, is in violation of the principles of the organization, and the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army is called upon to correct the mischief already done and make future blunders impossible. This will have a tendency to cast s damper over the patriotic and commendable action of the post which so enthusiastically extended the right hand of fellowship to the leading living general of the confeder ate army; but it is safe to say that the people, both north and south, will be as prompt in rebuking this display of vindictiveness and hatred as they were in approving the act of the post which declared so uniquely against the continuation of sectional strife. It will be interesting to watch which side of this question the Grand Army of the Republic will indorse-that of the dissenting element or that of the E. D. Baker post, of the action of which John W. Frazier, one of the most prominent members of the post,

Yes, we have been abused for making a rebel general a contributing member. I thought as the war was so far in the past that it would be well to war was so far in the past that it would be well to show a spirit of charity, so I sent General Johnston one of our circulars. He chose to sign his name to an inclosed blank made out in due form for $10, and that was the whole transaction. I picked out General Johnston because he was highest in the ranks of the confederate generals of today, and as between General Johnston and Voorbees I consider Johnston a million times more a man. If post No. 19 does not want to destroy sectional spirit and break up the solid south such action as their will heat the slumbering fires. The south will be solid just as long as there are such fools as the members of post No. 19. We are not the only post that has contribut n, members, U. S. We have beautiful the grant of the post No. 2 when the state of the post about thirty, among whom is Hamilt n Disston. I have had it thrown in my face that the Grand Army of the Republic taught that treason was to be rewarded with death, not with honors. I believe that, but since our government did not de-clare Johnston a traitor and guilty of treason I think it would be well for all to become recon-

There Has Boen No Fight Made. A correspondent, who forgets to sign his name, writes an answer to our editorial of yesterday urging that the democratic state convention should not ostracise all democrats who do not agree with the president on the tariff. There is but one point in the answer, and that is this: Our correspondent asks: "Ought not the men who made the fight for tariff reform in Georgia to enjoy the To this we reply, "No." All are demo-rats, and it is the universal custom to divide in some sort of proportion the honors and emoluments of party between the different wings of the party. This has always been done in Georgia. It has always been done in New York, and it always will be done where there is a desire to unify rather than divide the party.

So much, even if there had been "a fight" in Georgia. But there has been none. The moment the president issued his message, that moment the issues of the campaign were cast, and from that moment there has been no contest. In only two counties in Georgia has a single democrat raised his voice to contest the president's right to make the platform or to embarrass the party. In this county, in which we believe the tariff democrats have a clear and available majority, not one word was spoken against the cut and dried programme.

There has been no fight in Georgia. In not a single county has there been a contest. The fight was made in the president's mind, and when he declared for sweeping tariff reform the fight was settled. Had he declared for internal revenue repeal, Georgia would have stood solid today for that policy. He declared for tariff reform, and the tariff democrats over the state subordinated their views to party necessity and contested no point. Not a speech has been made, we believe, on either side in debate. If not a newspaper had been printed in Georgia the result would have been the same. The people are with the presidentas they ought to be.

We hold, as a democratic journal, that the convention ought to make its platform to agree with the views of the majority. It should instruct its delegates to vote for those views in St. Louis. It should then not go to the point of ostracising all tariff democrats in the state, but should give them representation on the ticket to St. We believe it will make a mistake Louis. if it does not do this!

THE MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE is about to pass a high-license bill. It seems as if most of the states in which the transport issue has agured conspicuously for a number of years agured conspicuously for a number of years that this solution of the question is being accepted. In several other states the system has been ound to work most advantageously. Herein lies the solution of a very important problem, INGALLS AND FORAKER appear to be twins. THE CONVENTION OF the Northern Methodist church is being held in the Metropolitan pera house in New York. This is a strange place for a religious convention of any kind, but it is simply startling to hear that the Methodists are meeting amid such frivolous surroundings.

Dr. Douglass lost his practice and his health by attending General Grant in his last sickness. He is in a hospital, and thinks he has been badly treated by the family. He should follow the example of Tilden's doctor, and bring in a bill.

THE CANDIDATES.

The convention will elect four delegates from the state at large and two delegates from each congressional district. There are many candidates in the field and a number of prominent gentlemen who are not candidates have been spoken of as delegates. Editors Augusta Chronicie: I find the loilowing editorial paragraph in your edition of May 3d:

"The Pal'imore Sun publishes the rumor that Governor Bullock is to run for governor against Governor Gordon. The Sun warns the ex-governor to ramember the woes of Warmouth."

This same statement has recently appeared in many papers, outside the state. I have not given any occasion for it, and, perhaps, am not called upon to contradict it. But now that the matter is brought home to me by editorial notice in one of the most influential of our state's papers, I desire glo say, most emphatically, that there is no foundation whatever for the "rumor." The pleasure of again casting my vote for Governor Gordon is in store for me. His aduninistration of the state's affairs commands my approtation. In addressing an assemblage of business men from the north and west I said, and I now repeat it, that the negro is safer under the present state democratic administration than he would be under a republican, because the latter would be regardel as alien, and would not command the willing support of our white neople.

The present state democratic administratin is doing all it possibly cap, while weighted down by the prejudices of the past, to see or for the negro political equality and civil libe ty under the law. Every year makes this task casier.

But it can only finally triumph by the willing consent of the while tax nowers. The democratic or ganization has committed first unreservedly to the candidates in the field and a number of prominent gentlemen who are not candidates have been spoken of as delegates.

Hen. Fleming G. du Bignon, of Chatham, is a candidate for delegate at large, he having been recommended for the position by the democracy of his county. It is said also that the friends of Mr.
I. H. Estill of the Savannah Morning News. for the position by the democracy of the county. It is said also that the friends of Mr. J. H. Estill, of the Savannah Morning News, will present Hon. Washington Dessau as a suitable man for delegate at large. It was said last night that Mr. Robert Bonner, of Pike, would also be a candidate for this position. Clarke county will put forward Hon, Pope Barrow as a proper man for delegate at large. Richmond county will back Hon. Patrick Walsh for this benerable place.

the supreme court of the United States. This is all that the nation has the right to ask from us, and is all that I, as a republicate, am will ing to yield. But in matters of national economic policy, I believe the republican to be the best for the country as a whole, and that it is the only policy under which the splerdid development of this section in material thin; s can be continued and enlarged. If the country can be held to this wise, economic policy, even against the votes of our section in the coming national campaign, it will be a blessing to us. New England, with her advantages of twenty-five years of unlinterrupted protection, may be able to stand the shock of free trade. But the budding industries of the new south would be blighted and destroyed by it, to the benefit, perhaps, of both new and old England.

For these reasons, I am in favor of our present state government being continued, and am equally as earnest in the hope that all internal taxation by the general government will be abolished, and that the republican policy as to protection of American labor and American money will prevail in the nation.

A Strong Blow in Favor of a Third Party Movement.

Judge John McMae and Mr. W. L. Giessner are mentioned in the third district.

In the fourth district Mr. F. D. Peabody was the only candidate spoken of last night.

Messrs. Jack J. Spalding and Emmett P. Womack are the candidates so far in the fifth district. Mr. Spalding hes her in the fifth district. He Gives His Experience—The People That License Are as Much to Blame Those That Sell,

Sam Small had a big crowd last night. The opera house was filled with ladies and entlemen who listened with interest to an tioned in the seventh district—the only candidate up there as yet.

In the 8th, Hon. W. H. Howard, of Lexington, and Hon. Tinsley W. Rucker, of Athens, are prominently spoken of.

In the ninth district Hon. W. E. Candler, of Union, and Hon. William E. Simmons, of Gwinnett, are mentioned as probable capdidates. "Ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Small. like the captive whose remembrance of captivity led him to free those captive birds in an eastern city, I would free my fellow tivity led him to free those captive birds in an eastern city, I would free my fellow men from a captivity that is worse than death. I have been singing a song of freedom for thirty months, and would that I could purchase the liberty of others. I feel strongly and speak strongly, but I have a right to do so. I started out well in life at the practice of law, with a Christian father and a Christian mother to guide me. I was led astray by a faise philosophy. I saw great men indulging in the sins of the day, and I reasoned that I too could be a great man, and use those vices as stepping stones to honor. I knew those ties were becoming stronger, but kept putting off the great effort that was to free me. I was consident in manhood and self-respect, and that's where I came Tom Eason has shaved his beard and his many friends hardly knew him last night. He didn't know he was coming, but was glad to hood and self-respect, and that's where I came near making a fatal mistake. I have seen culating among the boys last night.

He not only knows them all, but knew their parents. Still he's not an old man by several car lengths. He is such good company that everybody wanted to talk to him at once—just to hear him tune up his conversational powers.

hood and self-respect, and that's where I came near making a fatal mistake. I have seen many make that same mistake. My wife sought to wean my thought: from the indulgence of sordid appetite, sac, win them to better things. One day my mother came by my, office on Alabama street and begged me to go to my home on Luckie street, to my wife and children. I promised, and kept that promise, and my mother died that night."

The speaker reviewed the salient features of a life with which most Atlanta people are familiar. He speake of his debauchery and abandon, and of the efforts of his friends, and above all of his wife, to save him.

"The barkeepers don't like for me to tell these things. They have threatened me time and again—in the hour since I arrived, but, I'm not afraid of any of them. They may assassinate me—but I don't think they will, [laughter] and if they do my wife can say it was done by dirty low-lived cowards that d'un't have the manhood to stand up and say what they had to say. Curses, like chickence me home to rocest, and it's about roce of the for some folks in Atlanta. They had et etive to watch me when the old me a came over me, and many a time I would be not point of drinking, when the detectacy would forbid it, and the barkeeper, washing his hands in the invisible soap of his innedeence, as Mr. Ingalls says, would smile and one white aprened scoundrel called me a crank.

They used to smuggle it to me for the sake of the dimes and dollars. They call me a crank now, and during that fifteen years of debauchery not one white aproned scoundrel called me a crank.

They have a license to sell, and just as surely they have sold me a license to denounce them. It wasn't all the barkeepers fault, nor all my fault, we were only two thirds of the business, and the other third in the hellish compact was the city of Atlanta and the state and the government that licensed the damnation. Let me tell you. As dark as you pain't the barkeepers, they are no worse than the crowd that licenses them. That's bitter medicine but you'll have to swallow it. I'd as soon be a keeper in the lowest dive in town as to be a member of the council that licensed that dive. There may be a social distinction in Atlanta, but there is no difference. If a barkeeper goes to hell for his meanness, he'll find the crowd that licensed him there too. The money that the council wants to reading; its encouragement of the literary work and thoughtful life of the people; its supply of books of reference to the members of our various reading clubs and circles; its open doors to any and every ause or humane enterprise, which needs a place of neetings for its friends, these and more services than can be mentioned in so short a notice, entitle the library to the attention, the support and the en-thusiastic hearing of all of Atlanta's citizens. GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 6.—Editors Constitution: I notice in today's issue "a bit of news" given by Mr. William Findlay. It is true the resolution offered by me, was tabled, but it is an injustice to Senator Colquitt, to relate the he'll find the crowd that licensed him there tee. The money that the council wants to give for the books of the poor is blood meney, for it comes from the parents of the poor. You give the child a blue back speller and the father a quart bottle, and the child will learn more meanness from its daddy than it does alphabet from the blue back speller. Did you ever notice how scared of it these politicians are. Ten Georgia concressmen were asked show. news as Mr. F. did, for there were only fifteen present who voted, even voting to table four agains it, and several of the eleven are strong supporters of Senator Colquitt, but did not wish to adopt resolutions, which conflicted with Colonel Candler's views. It was not my jurpose to do anything antagonistic to Colonel Candler but to see how the few people assembled (for there were not more than I wanty five present) felt towards Senator Colquitt.

It was suggested to me to withdraw the resolution, or amend, just so as to indorse Senator Colquitt, but not his course on the tariff question.

Colonel Redwine, one of the eleven, said in the meeting that his views coincided with mine, but it was not the time to pass the resolutions. ever notice how scared of it these politicians are. Ten Georgia congressmen were asked show they stood on the question. 'Oh,' they said, 'we stand on the democratic platform.' Now at the last day, if they go to feeling in the pocket of their shroud for democratic platform, they'll just about go to hell, platform and all. They'd better get an asbestos suit at once. It was while I was vacillating between suicide and imbecility that I went with my children one Sunday to hear Sam Jones. He preached Colonel Redwine, one of Colonel Redwine, one of Ecolonel Redwine, one of the thing to pass the resolutions, was not the time to pass the resolutions.

FLETCHER M. JOHNSON. and imbeelity that I went with my children one Sunday to hear Sam Jones. He preached right along where I'd been, and I had to listen. When I got back to Atlanta I sent the children home and went from one barroom to another, and tried to drown it all. I couldn't, a new strange feeling swept over me. I wondered, and then I knew by a sort of inspiration that it was the peace of God. I have never doubted it since. They actually went off and bet that I wouldn't stick out for a week, and two weeks. You know the story, and its telling tonight recalls a An Open Letter to Judge Hook.

How. James S. Hook—Dear Sir: From my youth up 1 have been a man of peace. If unwittingly or through necessity, I have been a party to a dight, I have teen willing always to qu'it when the fight was declared ended, especially so if the other fellow got the licking. With the adoption, almost unanimous, of the resolutions protesting against the appointment of a lawyer to the place of a teacher, I had dropped the whole matter. But in yesterday's (Sunday's) Constitution you allow yourself interstick out for a week, and two weeks. You know the story, and its telling tonight recalls a sense of responsibility. You can't be on the fence. We must unite our hearts, and efforts, and ballets to rid the city and the country of this anarchism—this hellishness of the nineteenth century. There are people that are as much opposed to it as I am, but they haven't any plans, haven't thought of any, but they are opposed to preachers meddling—and so is the devil. Turn it over to the statesmen they say. I know how it is. I've got drunk with a number of statesmen. Tie down-easter agrees: 'Oh, yes, but the time is not opportune. There are more important matters—free trade and the rebel flags—and the teachers assembled in Macon were lacking in courtesy. Now, judge, courtesy or discountesy, has a relative value. I will ask you two plain questions. If you will have the courtesy to answer them, without quibbling as a lawyer and without dodging as a politician, I guarantee that the public shall have a settlement at once of the whole question at issue.

1. Were you in Atlanta immediately before Dr. Orr's death, or just after his death, seeking the appointment you now hold?

2. Is there an agreement between yourself and your secretary, (the secretary of the late Dr. Orr.) by which your salaries are added together and divided by two? which your salaries are added together and divided by two?

When you answer these questions I will make clear to the public mind that no discourt sy was felt or shown to you personally, either in the address of welcome, or in the resolutions of protest adopted by the teachers. The case does not stand on the docket: "The teachers of Georgia vs. the governor for putting a lawyer into a teache.'s place." You have voluntarily assumed to be the defendant in this case. You are now posing as a martyr to the teachers' discourtesy. But I say to you, in entire frankness, that I purpose unveiling your statue as a martyr if you answer the above questions. It will be time enough to settle the previous question of courtesy to the dying and the dead. Candidly and respectfully,

G. R. GLENN. is not opportune. There are more important matters—free trade and the rebel flags—and matters—free trade and the receil liags—and then if you have any concern in the republican party, for heaven's sake don't drag it into politics or we'll go to the devil in the next election.' The southerner agrees: 'It is sorter Jeffersonian, but we are just in power, and it would trouble us mightily in the next election. The idea is that recole would see the country debanched that people would see the country debauched rather than see the democratic party defeated. I had rather see it beaten than to have one more barroom on American soil. You watch tomorrow, and you'll see what I mean. The delegates know that they can hope for no offices but from the democrats, and they just stay there like knots on a log-an fices but from the democrats, and they just stay there like knots on a log-an adjunct to the democratic convention that meets the day after. You can find lots of them that sacrifice conscience for the democratic party. Whey they say the democratic party is for prohibition, it's a political lie and a political fiction. They are opposed to sumptuary laws, and yet nobody kicks about oleoperation. That's a question of butter on margarine. That's a question of butter on your bread, and I never saw a man hung, or shot, or even arrested for indulging in oleo-margarine in my life. Yethe strong arm of the law was myoked to choke the monster, and yet whisky is licensed because the democrats are opposed to squartnay laws. Make it crats are opposed to sumptuary laws. Make it a square issue; stick together, lock shields, and by united effort deliver Georgia. Let's have a reign of honesty and sobriety. Let's build an by united effort deliver Georgia. Let's have a reign of honesty and sobriety. Let's build an edifice that our sons and daughters will be proud to inherit. The participants in the Kirmess have responded is promptly for this evenings performance as they lid on the first night, and without a single exception will take their places in realistic costume.

Professor Agostini has kindly consented to remain in the city for tonight's programme. To him is due great credit for the excellence which the different participants attained in their parts.

Something decidedly new in the way of a surprise, was introduced at a recent dinner party. The electric light is finding its way, not only at the linner table, but even into the dishes served therein. A jelly, in the midst of which the electric light was set, created a great sensation at a dinner recently given to a party of public officials. The effect was of course enhanced by the fact that it was arranged as a surprise for the guests. The dish had been on the table from the beginning of the repast, but was hidden from observation by a sliver cover The Farmers' Mortgage Security company for which a charter was recently obtained in for which a charter was recently obtained in Fulton superior court, was organized in this city yesterday. ### IT KILLED MILLIONS.

A United States Fish Car Comes to Atlanta.

Artesian Water Poured Upon Thousands of Fish and Millions of Eggs, Kill-ing Them Almost Instantly.

Millions of fish were killed in Atlanta yeserday. Sunday afternoon Mr. J. Frank Ellis, of fish car. He came direct from Washington to this point for the purpose of hatching out fish, to distribute among the rivers of Georgia. He had on board between three and four million shad eggs. They were deposited in the huge tank under the car, awaiting to be agitated tank under the car, awaiting to be agitated by the rushing water into myriads of shad minnows ready made for the Chattahoo-chee, Ocmulgee, Flint, Etowah and other rivers of the state. There were also in this car safely stowed away in the refrigerator about sixty thousand fish, which had been hatched from shadeggs en route by means of water procured from various streams between Washington and Atlanta. When Mr. Ellis arrived in Atlanta, his first thought was to get to work. The car was sidetracked at the Forsyth street crossing, and arrangements were at once made car was sidetracked at the Potsyin street crossing, and arrangements were at once made to get water into the car in order that the hatching process might proceed. It would never do, of course, to use hydrant water because the alum which it contained would kill the fact of the course of the cours cause the alum which it contained would kill the fish. So it was determined to try the artesian water. About a hundred feet of hose was secured. One end was adjusted to the artesian pump at the corner of Alabama and Forsyth street and the other end was so placed in the car that the water was conducted without trouble to the eggs. After a few hours pumping it was discovered that all the fish were dead, and that the eggs which had come in contact with the water were dead too. Something in the artesian water had killed all the fish, but just what had done it nobody could tell. Mr. Ellis stated that he thought it was the lime of magnesia in the artesian water which had such a terrible effect.

The United States fish car returned to Washington last night for a fresh supply of eggs,

The United States fish car returned to Washington last night for a fresh supply of eggs, and next time the car comes into Georgia, which will be pretty soon, it will stop at Augusta, where the river water will be used in hatching out the shad eggs for distribution among the streams of the state.

Mr. Redding, of the department of agriculture, went to Augusta last night to make the necessary arrangements for the river water.

WHAT PROFESSOR M'CANDLESS SAYS.

necessary arrangements for the river water.

WHAT PROFESSOR M'CANDLESS SAYS.

"I don't know what there could be in the artesian water to kill the fish," said Professor John M. McCandless, the well known analytical chemist, last night, "unless it was the iron. Of course, the artesian water is harder than the water of rivers and other streams, which is probably the kind that the fish have been used to. If I remember rightly, there are ten or twelve grains of mineral proporties to a gallon of the artesian water. This is magnesia, lime, salt and iron. If I am not mistaken, there is about one-tenth of a grain of iron. It must have been the temperature of the water or the iron it contains."

iron it contains."
"Would the alum in the hydrant water have "Would the alum in the hydrant water have injured them?"

"If there is now as much alum in the hydrant water as there was some time ago, when analyses were made, I should say yes. But there should be no alum in the water. If only the proper amount is used in the process of filteration, there should be none of it in the filtered water, and hence, if the hydrant water is what it should be, the fish would not have been injured by its use. That water is probably more nearly what they have been accustomed to than the artesian water."

Canadian Catarrh Cure Co.:

Gentlymen—My wife was a great sufferer with Catarrh for over two years. She has been a little troubled ever since she was a child with the disease. About two years ago we were in Mississippi, and while there she was taken down with entarrhal fever; we had three of the best physicians we could get. They broke the fever and left her the worst case of catarrh of the head I ever saw. Her nose ran profusely, and for a year I despaired of her ever getting well. I tried several doctors and they could not cure her, and used every catarrh remedy I could hear of. I spent over $50 the past year for remedies, and all to no effect. At last it became so ofensive that you could hardly remain where she was. I offered $1,000 to any doctor who would cure her (and that would have left us homeless), but I would not have cared for that if she could only be cured. We saw an advertisement in the Atlanta Constitution of "Canadian Catarrh Cure," and thought we would try it, and went to your office, when you gave my wife a small sample bottle of your remedy, and told us to come and get a large bottle when that was out. I bought the large bottle, and before she had used all of the bottle she was entirely well, and her health fully restored, and now does more work than any woman I know. She used the medicine over six months ago, and there has not been the slightest return or the disease. I hope everybody that has catarrh may find you and be cured. I am a travelling mas and have told a great masy of your wonderful cure. Yours truly.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK, May 7.—The stock market was only moderately active. London was a buyer at the only moderately active. Deficion was a boyde a strong tone to the early trading, the first prices being from ½ to ½ per cent atove Saturday's closing prices. Special pressure was brought to bear against the Gould stocks. New England was remarkably strong in the early dealwas brought to bear against the could stocks. New England was remarkably strong in the early dealings, but after the rise of a point gave way with the remainder. Missouri Pacific led the decline, and before it was stopped had dropped 3% per cent. Union Pacific also became quite weak later. The feature of the dealings was the demand for Lackawanna. In the loan crowd as high as 1-64 (the opening) was bid for the use of stock today, while the short interest in all active stocks is reported very large, one operator having 100,000 shares. There is an impression that the market has been weakened by parties interested in defeating the placing of the Reading 4 per cent loan in London, and Reading was weak at one time today, though it never lead in the decline, Manhattan distinguished itself today, being next to Missouri Pacific as to weakness, but New England after it once started showed marked weakness. Toward 2 o'clock the lowest prices of the day generally were reached, and the shorts then started into cover, which railied the list, though little progress was made until during the last hour, when the advance gained force and most of the list were brought up made until during the last hour, when the advance gained force and most of the list were brought up near the opening figures. The close was quiet and dull. Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred gained 1 per cent, but most of the list are lower. Missouri Pacific is down 2 per cent, Manhattan 1%, Oregon Navigation 1%, and Fort Worth and Denver 1% The sales aggregated 291,000 shares.

The New Orleans Cotton Market. The New Orleans Cotton Market.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—[Special.]—Although Liverpool deliveries were 2-64d lower today, spots there were in good demand, as evidenced by the sales of 12,000 at full prices. On this side the markets opened 3@4 lower than Saturdag, and after a dull day's business and significant fluctuations, closed dull in New York and firm here at the deciline. Shipments from the interior to the ports continue quite heavy, and prospects are for quite a reduction in interior stocks again this weak in sprice. duction in interior stocks again this week, in spite of the larger receipts at the ports. New York advices today report that 7,400 bales were sold for export in the market last week, in addition to the sales reported officially. Futures closed dull but

NEW YORK, May 7—Hubbard, Price & Co., in their circular today, say: The opening of this week has given us a rather dull and featureless market. After a rather dull opening, with sales three points below Saturday's claime price; were little points. below Saturday's closing prices, very little anima-tion was shown to hold values. The fact that the tion was shown to hold values. The fact that the advance of last week has to a considerable extent led to covering on the part of room traders and nervous bears, and the further created interest seems to have taken the power away to support the increased cost, and, although no special pressure came forward to depress prices, the market shows a certain feeling of strongness. The closing prices show a decline of about three points since the 5th. The demand for spot cotton keeps well up, and salos are again today pretty liberal.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, May 7-[Special.]-The first hour on change was very dull. The opening prices ranged just a trifle better than the closing figures Saturday. At about 11 o'clock the wheat pit evened up and the market became very active. Several shorts who realized that they must dejend on the tail end of the old crop to fill contracts, bought June wheat; then the visible supply figures came, showing a de-crease of 1,146,000 bushels for the week, encouraging more buying. This was followed by reports from Missouri, which have been bearish recently, conceding that the damage was more than expected On these things there was an active market from 10 o'clock until the c'ose, when the advance for the day was about 3/@7/c. June opened at about 82% and sold up to 83%; July opened at 83% and sold at 8.8% Corn sold within a narrow range, and, while the general feeling was strong, large receipts an Lalarge increase in the wisible supply, a large percentage of which is No. 2, prevented any special advance. The closing prices were very near outside for the day, and fractionally higher than on Saturday. May opened at 57½c, sold at 57½c, sold at 55½c, sold at 55½c, sold at 55½c, sold at 55½c.

The speculative trade in one continues active, and market strong and advancing. The amount in store is small, and holders do not seem inclined to let the price drop at all, consequently shors are covering at a little higher prices every day. May sold up to and closed at 31½c. July sold up from 32½ to See, closing at 32%.

Provisions were quiet and steady, trading being mostly professional. Short ribs were the most attractive, and were sold early by strong parties who changed their minds later and bought back their purchases at higher pricei. July ribs sold at 7.67% and closed at 7.65. September sold at 7.72/@7.85. Lard for July sold at 8.17% and closed at 8.25. Pork for July sold at $14.22% and closed at $14.35.

"This," said Clerk Goldsmith, holding up a mall iron frame with wires running across about an inch apart, "this is here for your consideration in connection with the petition I will now read." He read a short petition Irom the Schuessler Manufacturing company, asking permission to manufacture these pieces of iron lattice to be placed in front of the windows of the various saloons in the city. The petition and the sample were sent to the police committee.

The License Question. The following petitions for license to sell liquor or beer were referred to the committee on police:

James Hughes to sell beer at 482 Decatur

G. B. Stewart to sell liquor at wholesale at No. 167 West Peters street.

J. J. B. Mathers to transfer his liquor business from 428 to 418 Marietta street.

The following licenses were granted by the A. Hentschell to sell beer at wholesale at 54

A. Hentschell to sell beer at wholesale at 54
Decatur street.

T. W. J. Schmeltzer to sell beer. This salonist violated the law against keeping open his place later than 10 o'clock at night, and his license was forfeited. A great many affidavits were presented showing that the applicant keeps a grocery store in connection with his beer saloon, and that at the time it was alleged he was violating the law he had no beer in his place, having sold out by 10 o'clock. His license was given back to him.

C. J. Johnson, to sell liquor at 314 Decatur street. Before this license was granted, the point was raised by Mr. Woodward that an ordinance was adopted at the last meeting that no more liquor licenses should be granted to persons in Decatur street.

The clerk was asked to read the ordinance.

The clerk was asked to read the ordinance, and he read:
Resolved, That at present no more liquor licenses Resolved, That at present no more liquor licenses be given to persons in Decatur street.

Mayor Cooper—Gentlemen, you must construe what "at present" means.

Alderman Collier moved to rescind the resolution, and his motion was adopted by a vote of 13 to 3. Messrs. Haas, Howell and Boynton voted in the negative.

Various Petitions. There was the usual influx of petitions, covering every subject. Most of these are of interest only to their signers.

The Woman's Industrial union ask for a continuance of the monthly allowance of $50. The finance committee, to whom it was refered, recommended that the monthly allowance be $25, which was agreed to.

property to be condemned. The report was adopted.

Alderman Hemphill introduced an ordinance making it unlawful for any person to hitch a horse to a shade tree in the Piedmont park under a penalty of $310. Adopted.

Mr. Woodward introduced a resolution that hereafter those who work for the city shall receive the same pay, regardless of color or sex. Appropriately referred.

Mr. Moran introduced a resolution, which was adopted, that the International Typographical union be invited to hold its annual meeting in Atlanta in 1889, and that Councilman Woodward be required to convey to the convention this resolution, properly engrossed.

Mr. Moran proposed an ordinance that all gas pipes be laid three and a half feet below the surface of the ground and that all sewer pipes be laid four feet under ground. Adopted.

Mr. Morris moved that a drinking fountain for horses and mules be placed at the junction of Whitehall and Forsyth streets. Adopted.

Mr. Tanner offered a resolution that hereafter all persons moving houses be required to place on them at night a light. Adopted.

Mr. Fred Krog, boiler inspector, tendered his resignation, which was accepted, and Mr. J. J. Eckman was elected in his stead.

Extending the Fire Limits. The subjoined ordinance was passed, without ichate:

Section 1. Be it ordained, by the mayor and general council, That the ordinance fixing the first illustration of said city be so amended as to make the following the boundary lines, viz:
Commencing at the corner of Ivy and Cain streets, thence with a long Lack is street to Luckie street; thence which a long Lack is street to Simpson; thence along Simpson street to Marietta street; thence along Simpson street to Marietta street; thence along Johns street to the Western and Atlantic railroad; thence along said railroad right-of-way to the corner of Simpson and Elliott streets; thence along said railroad right-of-way to the corner of Simpson and Elliott streets; there along Elliott streets the right-of-way of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railway company at the car. Sam'l W. Goode & Co.

corner of Nelson and Elliott streets; thence along the track of said East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railway company to Peters street, thence along Peters street to the junction of Garnett street: thence along Garnett to Loyd street; thence along East Peters to Fair street; thence along Fast reters to Fair street; thence along Fair street to Frazer street; thence along Fair street to Buller; thence along Butler to Gilmer; thence along Gilmer to Lyy street; thence along Frazer street to Butler; thence along Butler to Gilmer; thence along Gilmer to Ivy street; thence along Ivy street to the starting point.

Sec. 2. Be it further ordained, That in all cases where a street is the boundary line in this ordinance the limit shall be, for all practical purposes, one hundred feet beyond said street.

Sec. 3. Be it further ordained, That all ordinances in conflict with this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

The Fun Spoiled. Among the spectators occupying seats outside the railing were observed about a dozen citizens of West End. Inside the railing, near Alderman Collier, sat Colonel George W. Adair, with his arms full of charts and maps. It had been announced that the petition regarding the extension of Georgia avenue, and the report of the committee thereon, would be taken up for consideration. Colonel Adair could hardly repress his impatience. He was eager to unroll his maps, and to explain them to the members of the council.

Mr. Beutell read the report of the committee, which recommended the extension of Georgia avenue, and suggested what route it should take, starting at Windsor street.

In this connection he read the resignation of Colonel Adair, as one of the assessors. Mr. Beutell said the report was signed by four of the street committee; that they had gone over the land and examined it carefully; that the route recommended was deemed the most feasible and would make Georgia avenue straight instead of erooked, as the other route contemplated.

route recommended was deemed the most feasible and would make Georgia avenue straight instead of crooked, as the other route contemplated.

Alderman Howell suggested that the matter be referred to a new committee, to be composed of three members of the general council, the mayor of West End, and Mr. C. W. Hunnicutt, county commissioner, and Dr. Marvin and Mr. J. W. Alexander.

Noticing how restive was Colonel Adair, one of the members moved that the rules be suspended so that the genial and loquacious colonel could be heard from.

Colonel Adair rose and unrolled his scroll which proved to be a chart about four feet long by two wide. It was beautifully drawn and accurately delineated the country along the route to be taken by Georgia avenue. Two members aided the colonel in showing his map, one holding one end and one holding the other end. The colonel was waxing eloquent when his oratory was, nipped by Mr. Beutell, who raised the point that the whole proceeding was out of order, in as much as the matter was not up for final action.

"The point is well taken," said the mayor remorselessly, and Colonel Adair reluctantly took his seat. The maps and charts were lying about the floor in admired disorder.

It was decided to refer the matter back to the committee, to which Messrs. Marvin and Alexander should be added. This spoiled what promised to be a sensation, and the West End citizens quitted the hall.

Just before odjournment Mr. Beutell rose and said: "Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council—I desire to tender my sincere thanks to you for the beautiful and costly gift you so thoughtfully gave me upon a certain occasion —the 25th of last month. Permit me to express my sense of appreciation of your kindness. I assure you I shall always cherish that gift and I shall never forget the givers."

The body adjourned.

Will be attended by great and ger to body and limb, bu hundreds of leading players say they find more prompt relief from strains, sprains, bruises, rheumatism, stif and enlarged joints, lameness, etc., by using BENSON'S PLASTER for such troubles than any other external remedy known to the profession. All athletes as well as those in the ordinary avocations of life unite with baseball players in certifying to the value of this plaster in such accidents. It is prompt, pleasant and pleasing in action and never fails to secure the best results when used according to printed directions. Owing to its popularity many worthless substitutions are ordered. Buyers should always ask for DENSON'S, firmly refusible all other plasters.

His throat was so dry it was respin. His stomach felt awful uneasy, And his nose was red and quite greasy. The reason forsooth, that this dandified youth Had got a black eye and lost a front tooth; Was, the evening before with whisky galore, A bottle of wine and nine fizzes or more, Had kept him from bed and swelled his dear head, and this was the cause of the trouble with Ned. Were you in his place in a similar case You'd do as he did and hurriedly race To the nearest drug store and count out his pence And get a bottle of Scotch Oats Essence.

The Earth Exhales Poison To the air in localities where vegetation, rotted by freshets, is laid bare to the sun's rays by the retiring flood. Millions of square acres, in the vicinity of the great tributaries of the Mississippi and the Missouri in the south and south-west, give forth this fever-laden miasmatic vapor, disseminating malarial pestilence broad-cast. Not only throughout the great west, but wherever on this continent fever and ague makes its periodic appearance—and what lo-cality is wholly exempt from it?—Hostetter's cality is wholly exempt from it?—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the recognized defense, the most highly accredited and popular means of cure. Fover and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake are eradicated by it. Nor is it less potent when used to remove constipation, kidney troubles, nervousness and rhoumatic ailments. Use it upon the first appearance of these troubles, and with persistence.

For a limited time we offer for sale the late residence and grounds of Mr. J. G. Oglesby, on Richardson street.

This is a gem in every respect.

The house was built by the owner for a home; had eight rooms, and contains every comfort and convenience the architect could devise. The very best material was used in its construction. There is nothing scant about it, and every part of it is solid and substantial. The interior is benutifully finished. There is on the place a servants' house 2-story barn, cow house, stable, poultry hous and vard, and, unlike many places oftered for sale, the closest inspection cannot detect the slightest necessity for spending one dollar in improvement or repairs. The entire place is in perfect order. A splendid garden and alt varieties of fruits. The lot is large—100 feet front, 205 deep to a 10-foot alley—and surrounding the residence is a lovely blue grass lawn, overspread by one of the most magnificent groves of forest oak; in Georgia. The location is one of the high points of the city; the water is pure and excellent, and the air, free from dust and leat, is always fresh and invigorating. The neighborhood is first-class, comprising such excellent citizenz as Colonel John B. Goodwin, Mr. Parkhurst, Mr. Waffer R. Brown, Captain Hanseli, Mr. Cephus Brown, Mr. Smylle, Messrs, Rich Bros., Mrs. Love, Mrs. Klser, Mr. Moran Mr. M. Mahonay, Dr. Styles and many others. Paved streets and sidewalks, gas, water and street cars. New residences are being creeted in the vicinity in almost all directions, and enhancement in value of this property is certain. It is seldom so desirable a home is offered for sale. Call to see us, and we will sell you a bargain on liberal terms. If desired, the two beautiful vacant lots, 50x20 each, corner Hehardson and Formwalt streets, west of and adjoining the above property, can be loogupt with it.

The Cavalry Festival to Begin Tomorrow at Noon, me of the Contestants Already Here and Others to Arrive Today-Interesting Gossip About the Tournament.

Everything is ready for the cavalry festival, which will take place tomorrow at Piedmont

Three of the companies which have entered the tournament have already reached Atlanta and three more will arrive today. These com panies will, upon their arrival, be welcomed by detachments of the Governor's Horse Guard. The companies which are to compete in this grand trial of skill are noted; they rank among the best military organizations in the United States. '

That company which will probably attract the most attention is the Philadelphia corps— the First City Cavalry Troop. This is one of the most distinguished as well as the oldest organizations in the United States. It was organized in 1774. It is said by one who knows whereof he speaks that no member of the company is worth less than $100,000. This company will reach Atlanta at 10 o'clock this norning and will be met at the railway station by a detachment of the Governor's

The Augusta company-the Richmond Hus-The Augusta company—the Richmond Hussars—will arrive in Atlanta at 1 o'clock today, and will be met at the union depot by a detachment of the Governor's Horse Guard. This sterling company will be accompanied by many prominent society people of Augusta. The members will bring their own horses.

spectators in the grand stand.

The committee in charge of the arrangements has agreed upon the following schedule of prices:

Gate fee at the exposition grounds for the tournament or the races, fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children. Carriages going into the gates will be charged twenty-five cents.

Admission fee at the opera house for the coronation, fity cents. No extra charge for reserved seats. Seats in the gallery, twenty-five cents.

Cards of admission to the grand ball will cost five cents.

Cards of admission to the grand ball will cost five dollars. Holders of these cards are entitled to seats in the opera house. They are not transferable, and admit the holder with one lady to the ball. They may be bought of Lieutenant E. C. Atkins, 22 Decatur street, or Sergeant Dohme, 88 Whitehall street.

right. The final arrangements for the cavalry festival were perfected. This afternoon at 6 o'clock, the judges and tilters and officers in command of the latter, will meet at armory of Gate City Guard, in Peachtree street, for the purpose of discussing the rules for the government of the tilt, and making final arrangements in regard thereto.

ernment of the tift, and making mail arrangements in regard thereto.

The Governor's Horse Guard have decided to enter in the tournament only one team, consisting of J. L. Beatie, Jas. C. Allen, Dr. Dozier and Carlton Miller, with Messrs, Jones, Benson and Bentine, as supernumeraries. The serious illness of First Sergeant J. J. Woodside and Sergeant E. S. Morris, two of the best riders in the company, has prevented the riders in the company, has prevented the Horse Guard from entering a second team.

I will sell upon the premises on MAY 10, 1888, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, LOTS 6

As per plat. Nos. 1 and 2 front on Peachtrie st., 50x180; Nos. 3 and 4 front Cain street, 40x100; Nos. 5 and 6 front Spring street, 50x120.

This is decidedly the most valuable residence property in the city of Atlanta. It is on "the" street of Atlanta, Peachtree street; on the west side of the street and fronts east; the highest point on the street; the next lot the governor's mansion, and possessing the very best of environments, admired by all and inquired after by all seekers of strictly No. 1 gilt edge residence lots.

This class of property can only be bought from estates, living owners will not sell; it is equal to a government gold bond. Such property is just what purchasers want for personal use—homes to keep and live in. The titles are absolutely unquestionable. The purchaser of No. 1 on Peachtree street can have option of No. 2, and if one party buys both lots, the house can go with the lots; but if different parties buy one and two, the house will be sold separate, to be moved in sixty days. (The house stands on part of both lots.) The same privilege will be given on all the vacant lots.

Buyers are invited to call for plats, Select a lot and attend the sale: all will be sold. It is just impossible to add anything to the description of this property. Its beauty, worth and value are too self-evident. Terms, ½ cash, 6, 12 and 18 months, 7 per cont.
